

Business Insurance Information Summary

What is business insurance?

Business insurance helps protect organisations from unexpected losses including property damage, legal liability, and employee-related risks. It covers assets like equipment, premises, and stock, and may include public liability, and third-party personal injury insurance. Some insurances are often legally or contractually required, while others are optional but recommended to safeguard against unexpected events. This ensures organisations can operate confidently, knowing they are protected against potential financial losses.

Why have business insurance?

Having business insurance provides peace of mind, allowing you to focus on growing your organisation without worrying about potential setbacks. Business insurance is essential as it protects your organisation from unexpected financial losses and can ensure continuity by covering costs associated with accidents, lawsuits, and natural disasters.
